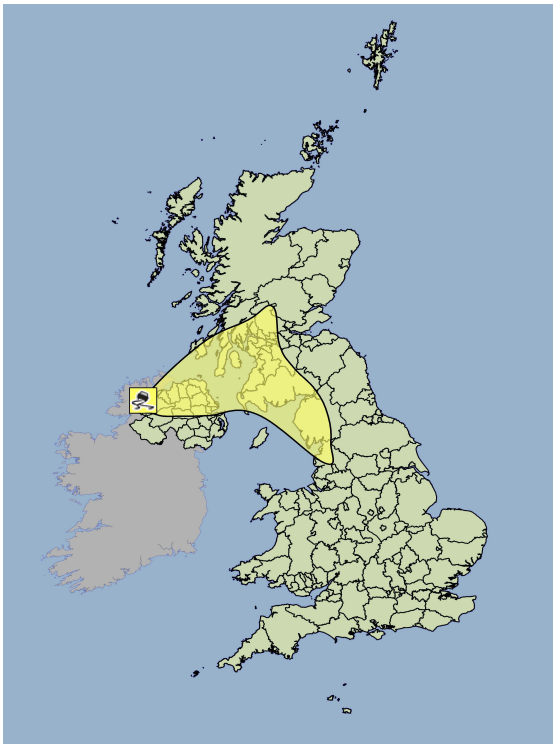
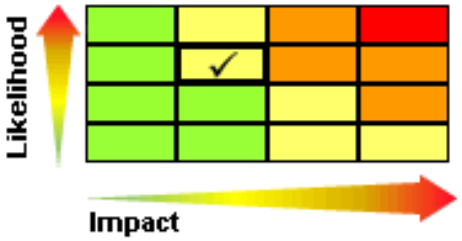
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Clear spells will allow road and pavement temperatures to fall below freezing on Wednesday morning. Occasional wintry showers drifting in from the north and northwest will bring the risk of icy stretches, as well as some slight snowfalls to higher ground.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 05:45 on Wed, 24th Feb 2016 until 09:00 on Wed, 24th Feb 2016

Icy stretches are expected to form on many untreated roads and pavements on Wednesday morning, especially where wintry showers fall. In addition, slight snowfalls of 1-2 cm are possible on some higher routes, chiefly above 200 m.

Please be aware of the risk of some difficult driving conditions, and some low level travel disruption.

This is an update to the warning issued on Tuesday evening to include a larger part of NW England.
